Let's get started!

Basic Stitches

- Bead Stitch: This is a simple stitch that you can use to attach beads to your fabric. To create a bead stitch, simply bring your needle up through the fabric from the back, thread a bead onto your needle, and then bring your needle back down through the fabric, a short distance away from where you brought it up.
- Buttonhole Stitch: This stitch is used to create a small, decorative loop that you can use to attach buttons or charms to your fabric. To create a buttonhole stitch, bring your needle up through the fabric from the back, insert it into the fabric a short distance away, and then bring it back up through the fabric, next to where you brought it up. Repeat this process to create a series of loops.
- Chain Stitch: This stitch is a continuous stitch that you can use to create a variety of designs. To create a chain stitch, bring your needle up through the fabric from the back, insert it into the fabric a short distance away, and then bring it back up through the fabric, next to where you brought it up. Repeat this process, always inserting your needle into the previous loop.

Intermediate Stitches

- French Knot: This stitch is a small, decorative knot that you can use to add texture and interest to your embroidery. To create a French knot, bring your needle up through the fabric from the back, wrap the thread around your needle twice, and then insert your needle back into the fabric, close to where you brought it up. Pull the thread through to create a knot.
- Lazy Daisy Stitch: This stitch is a continuous stitch that you can use to create a variety of designs. To create a lazy daisy stitch, bring your needle up through the fabric from the back, insert it into the fabric a short distance away, and then bring it back up through the fabric, next to where you brought it up. Repeat this process, always inserting your needle into the previous loop and creating a small loop on the surface of the fabric.

- Satin Stitch: This stitch is a solid stitch that you can use to fill in areas of your embroidery. To create a satin stitch, bring your needle up through the fabric from the back, insert it into the fabric a short distance away, and then bring it back up through the fabric, next to where you brought it up. Repeat this process, always inserting your needle into the previous stitch.

Advanced Stitches

- Bead Weaving: Bead weaving is a technique that you can use to create intricate designs with beads. There are many different bead weaving techniques, so you can experiment to find the ones that you like best. One popular bead weaving technique is peyote stitch. To create peyote stitch, you will need to thread beads onto a needle and then weave them together in a specific pattern.
- Button Embroidery: Button embroidery is a technique that you can use to create unique and eye-catching designs with buttons. There are many different button embroidery stitches, so you can experiment to find the ones that you like best. One popular button embroidery stitch is the blanket stitch. To create a blanket stitch, you will need to thread a needle with yarn and then sew around the edge of a button.
- Charm Embroidery: Charm embroidery is a technique that you can use to add charms to your embroidery projects. There are many different ways to attach charms to fabric, so you can experiment to find the method that you like best. One popular method is to use jump rings. To attach a charm to fabric using a jump ring, simply open the jump ring, slide it onto the charm, and then close the jump ring.

With these 125 stitches, you have endless possibilities for embellishing your embroidery projects. So get creative and have fun!

Here are some tips for embellishing your embroidery projects:

- Use a variety of stitches to create interesting and unique designs.
- Experiment with different beads, buttons, and charms to find the perfect combination for your project.
- Don't be afraid to mix and match different techniques to create your own unique style.

With a little practice, you'll be able to create stunning embroidery projects that are sure to impress your friends and family.
