History

The CSK was founded in the small town of Conrad, South Carolina, in 1969. The club's original members were a group of Vietnam War veterans who were seeking a way to continue their brotherhood and camaraderie after returning home from the war. The club quickly grew in popularity, and chapters were soon established in other towns and cities across South Carolina.

In the early 1970s, the CSK became involved in the Outlaws Motorcycle Club (OMC) war. The OMC was a rival motorcycle club that was trying to expand its territory into South Carolina. The CSK fought back against the OMC, and the two clubs engaged in a bloody turf war that lasted for several years.

The CSK eventually emerged victorious from the OMC war, and the club has continued to grow and prosper in the years since. The club now has chapters in every major city in South Carolina, and it is one of the most respected and influential motorcycle clubs in the state.

Culture

The CSK is a close-knit club with a strong sense of brotherhood. The club's members are fiercely loyal to each other, and they are always willing to help each other out. The club also has a strong tradition of riding, and the members often go on long rides together.

The CSK is also a very active club in the community. The club members often volunteer their time to help out at local charities, and they also participate in many community events. The club also has a strong commitment to supporting veterans, and the members often visit veterans' hospitals and participate in veterans' events.

Membership

The CSK is a selective motorcycle club, and not everyone is eligible to join. The club's members are typically experienced riders who have a strong commitment to the club's values. The club also requires its members to be of good character and to have a clean criminal record.

If you are interested in joining the CSK, you must first meet with a member of the club. The member will interview you and ask you about your riding experience and your commitment to the club's values. If the member is satisfied with your answers, you will be invited to attend a club meeting.

At the club meeting, you will be introduced to the other members of the club. You will also be required to pass a probationary period before you are granted full membership. During the probationary period, you will be required to participate in club rides and events. You will also be required to demonstrate your commitment to the club's values.

If you successfully complete the probationary period, you will be granted full membership in the CSK. You will then be entitled to all of the benefits of membership, including the right to wear the club's colors and to participate in club rides and events.
